Kim,

This year is over and I'm sure you're happy about it. This means that you will no longer be a freshman. Isn't that great news. I'm glad that I got to know you. You're a good friend to have and a good one to talk with. So you're going to Hilo this summer huh? Well I hope to see you there during the summer. If not well I'll see you back here when I come for school. You guys still have to come a day earlier than we do. Maybe I'll have to come back early because I think the D&K officers have to come early and organize things. I hope that I don't have to but we'll see what happens the chosen ones. as the chosen students of the kamehameha schools, we are the recipients of the legacy of bernice pauahi bishop. because of our educational experience, we are being prepared, in turn, to give to the future of hawaii. the sense of cultural pride received from attending kamehameha will be reflected in the positive self-image we take with us and pass on to the community.

during this summer. I hope that you and I will still be friends next year. Take care and God bless.

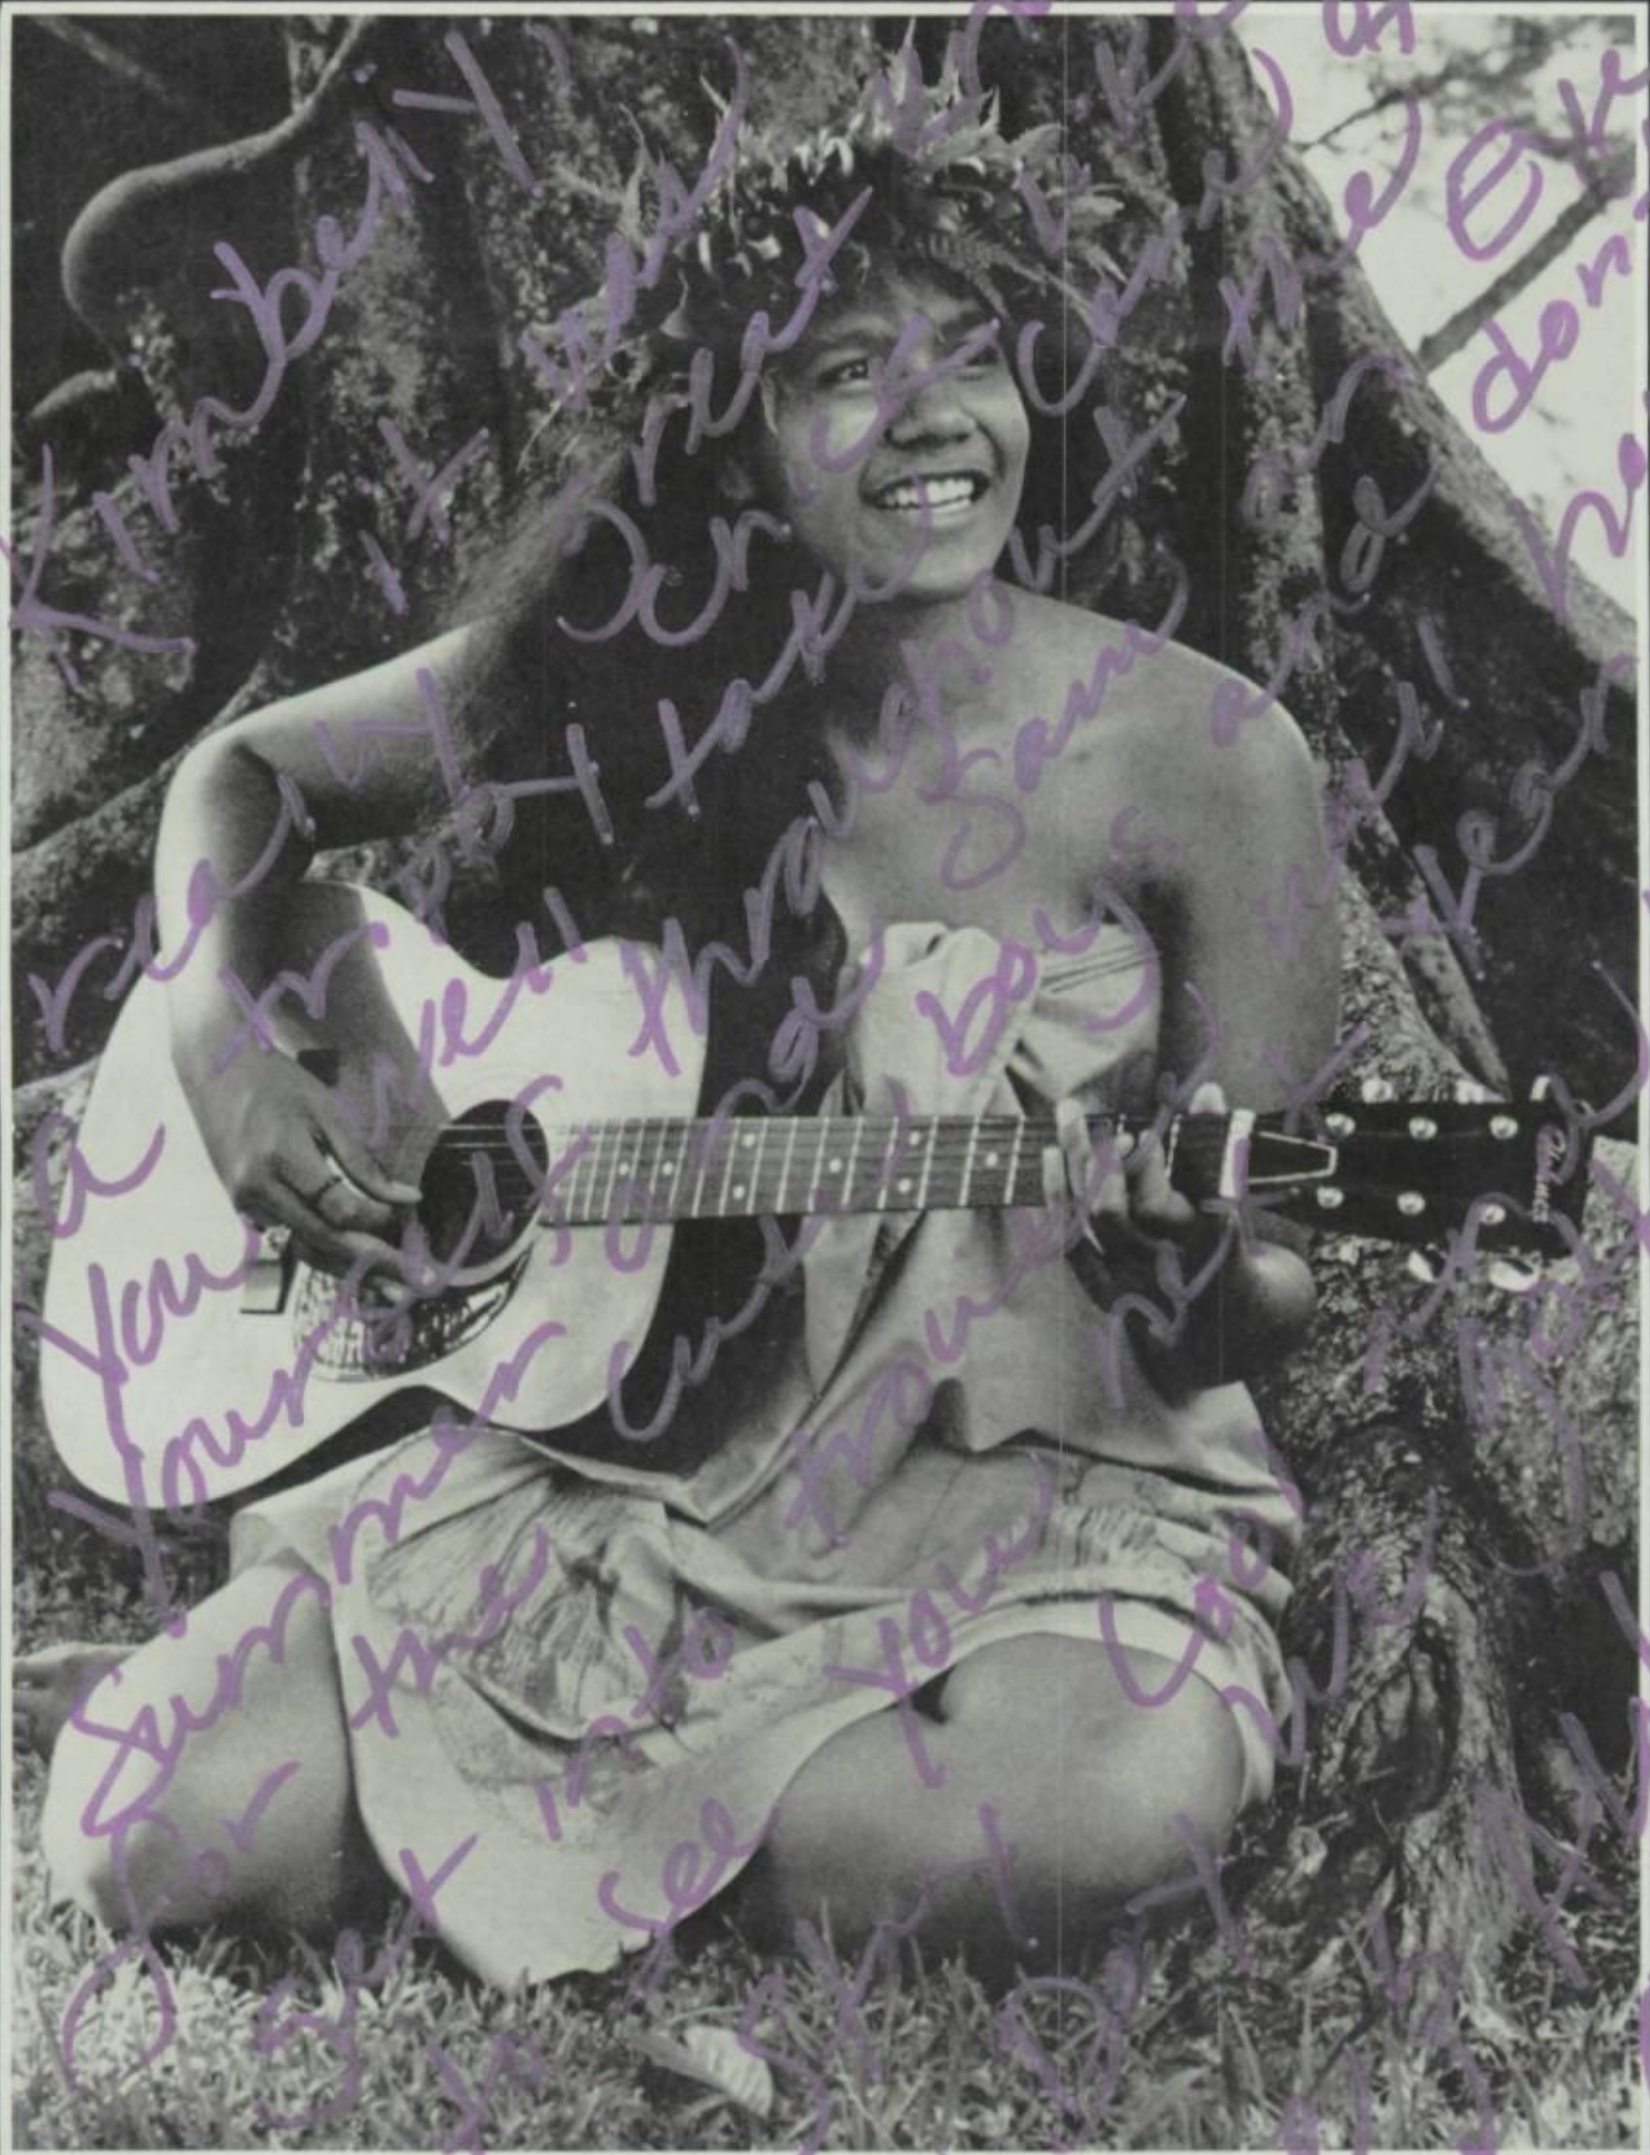

P.S. If you're lonely at home give me a call at 959-8870. Love, Tracy

A Celebration Of Our Culture

he ho'olaule'a week, november eighth through the twelfth, was a very festive one with such activities as two assemblies, a lei contest, and a hawaiian food lunch. the ke aloali'i royal court presented itself at both assemblies to students from grades seven through twelve, and to the faculty. the court also travelled to k.e.e.p. school, lunalilo home, and bishop museum on the day of the first assembly. at the second assembly, each class danced both kahiko and auwana presentations. also at the assembly, the spirit spear was awarded to the mighty senior class. he ho'olaule'a week was filled with the spirit of aloha and the special pride we have for our culture.

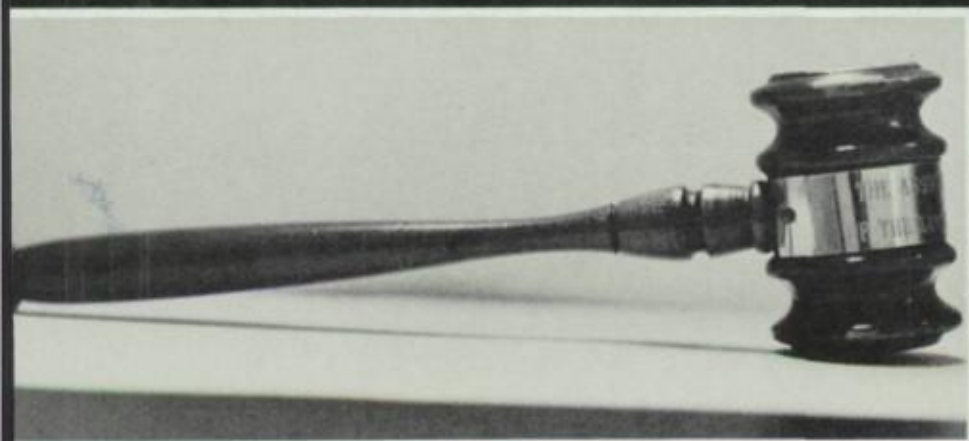

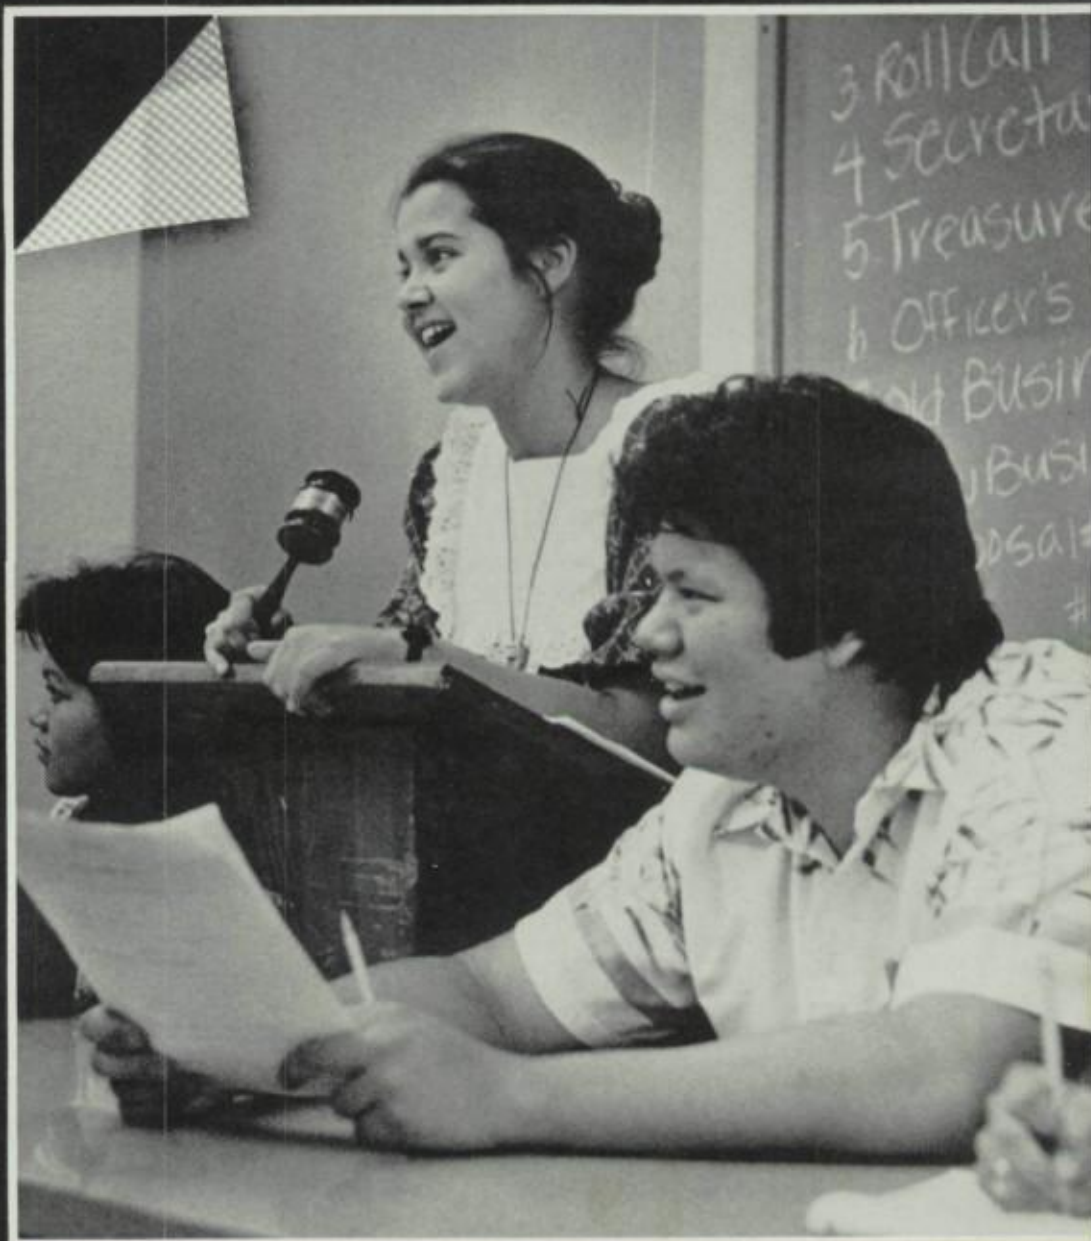

A.S.K.S. Presents...

the welcome back assembly was a good indication of the hard work and dedication of the a.s.k.s. executive board. the assembly was very successful in bringing the spirit of kamehameha back to school for the great beginning of the new year. a.s.k.s. also organized many dances and assemblies. the spirit spear was awarded at different times during the year to the class which demonstrated unbeatable spirit. although this created "competition" between classes, the theme, "together as one", could always be felt by all the classes on campus.

The Prince Who Wouldn't Talk.

long ago in a far away land called yakety-yak, there lived a young prince who loved a fair maiden. but he would not talk. the prince felt that if his own parents wouldn't listen to what he had to say, then maybe what he had to say wasn't worth saying. discouraged when all efforts to persuade the prince to talk failed, the fair maiden threatened to leave yakety-yak. the prince, not wanting his fair maiden to leave, was finally forced to speak up. when the king and queen heard their son speak, they were overcome with happiness. the prince himself was so happy that he married the fair maiden, and they lived happily ever after.

clockwise from top right: 1) the king and queen, frank jenson and natalie ornellas, sit royally upon their thrones. 2) the wizard of thinksology, ronald castagnetti, gives the prince, rho neves, a puzzle to solve, and he answers correctly. 3) the wizard of voicesology, shawn forsythe, teaches the prince, harold costa, to sing a lullaby. 4) the prince and the fair maiden, rho neves and erin mckee, live happily ever after. 5) no one knows the moral of the story. cast: king- david furtado and frank jenson. queen- jackie tascott and natalie ornellas. prince- rho neves and harold costa. maiden- erin mckee and lorna perry. wizard of thinksology- ronald castagnetti and stacey martin. wizard of voicesology- shawn forsythe and christi ching. wizard of noisesology- paul pikini and kelly kahaihui. narrator- leeann genovia and cami wengler.

Drama Club And Thespian Troupe entertaining and creating enjoyment for people of all ages was one of the many goals that the drama club and thespian troupe accomplished this year. in november, the club was busy performing the "prince who wouldn't talk." then in january, a state conference was held, followed by a winter melowdrama in february, and a spring play in april. the year was rounded off with an officers installation banquet and initiation held on may fourteenth. with advisor james bertino, the club was able to give students, young and old, a chance to enter the world of theatrical arts.

"All That Jazz"

jumpin' and jazzin' their way through the year, the jazz theater members proved to be a persistent and hard-working group of individuals. meeting on mondays and thursdays from 3:00 to 5:00, pam sandridge's dancers learned much more than dance routines—they learned concentration, toughness, and the power of determination. said one trouper, "we warm up to some good slow songs and then dance to today's fast beat music. it's a lot of hard work, and sometimes you feel really pressured, but it's all worth it."

Put The Boogie In Your . . .

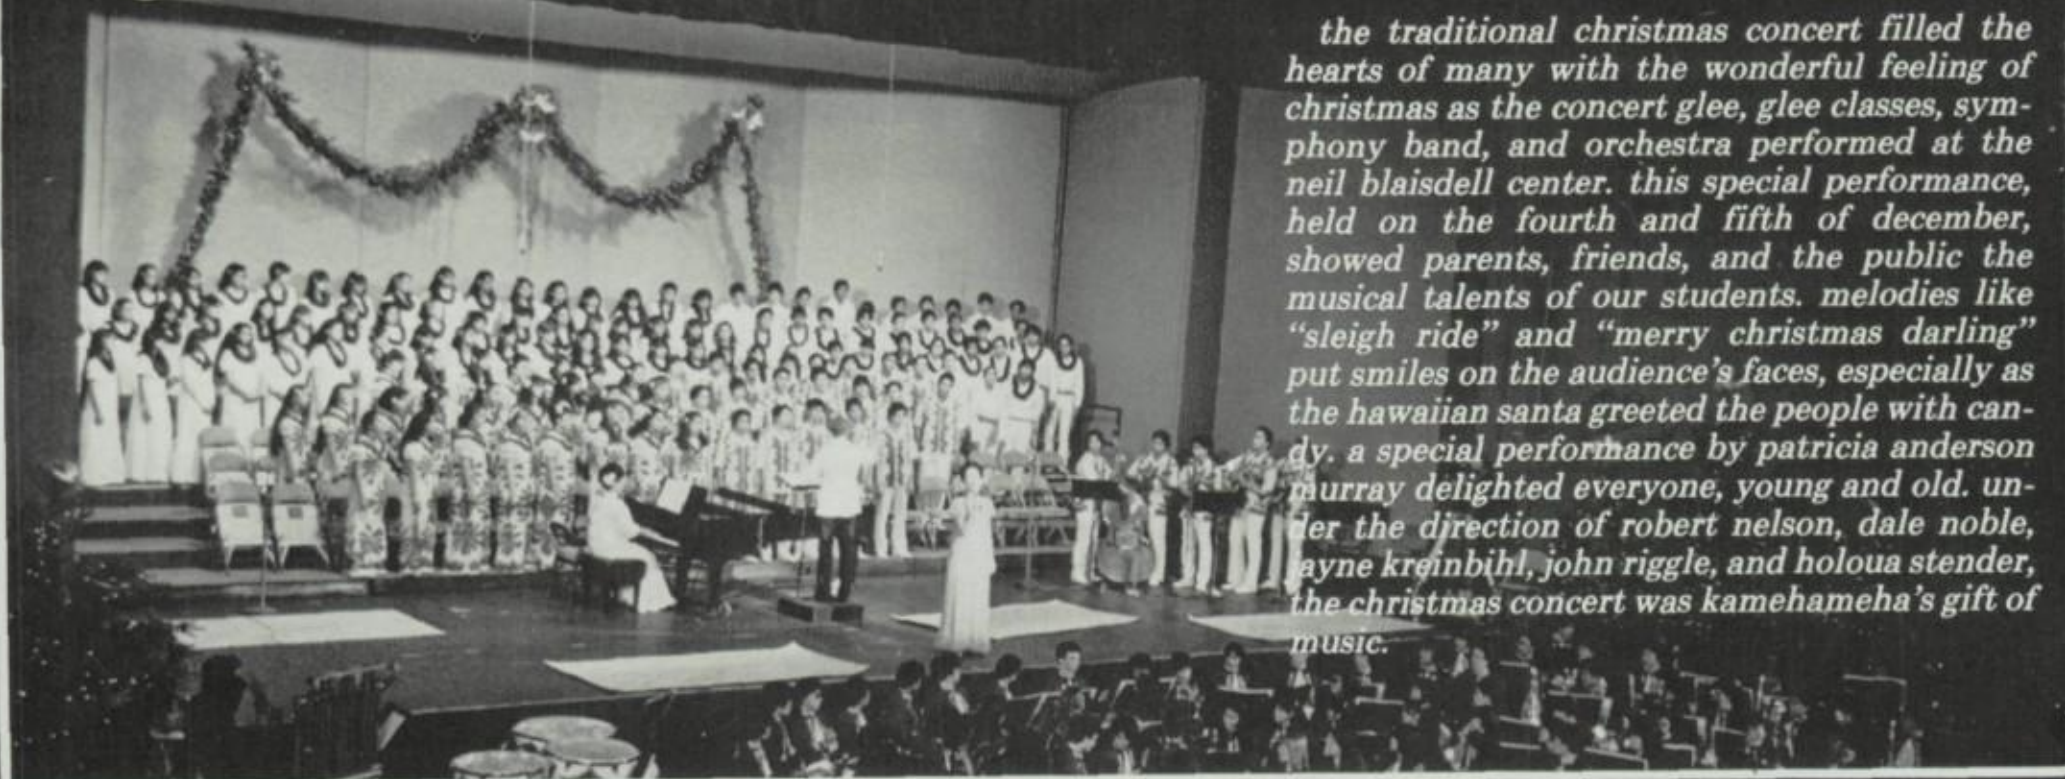

"in the evening" was the theme of this september's welcome back dance which helped to kick off the school year. rockers got down to some rock, while punkers and poppers punked and popped their way through the evening. in october, the traditional homecoming dance gave students a chance to celebrate a well-played football game. and in february, after exams, everyone relaxed with friends and loved-ones at the valentines dance, which, as usual, was a huge success and the only open dance of the year. finally, we ended nine months of school on an up-note with the thoroughly enjoyable aloha dance.

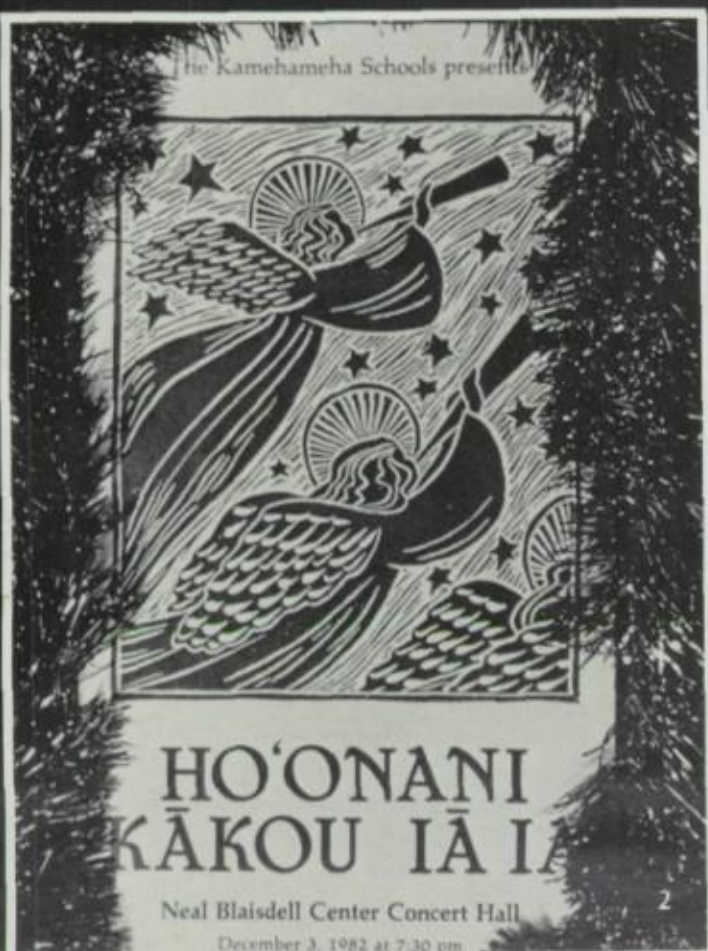

top: chris wright and jody brehm get down to some good music. kelli spencer and asai gilman do the same. middle: kika bukoski and lia keawe enjoy each other's company. makanani wong and patrick pa are caught in mid-gyration. kathy ho and mike lum dance the night away. bottom: nat wise and lei tiwanak get groovy. kekoa keliipuleole and jenny kauhane display their terpsichorean skills.

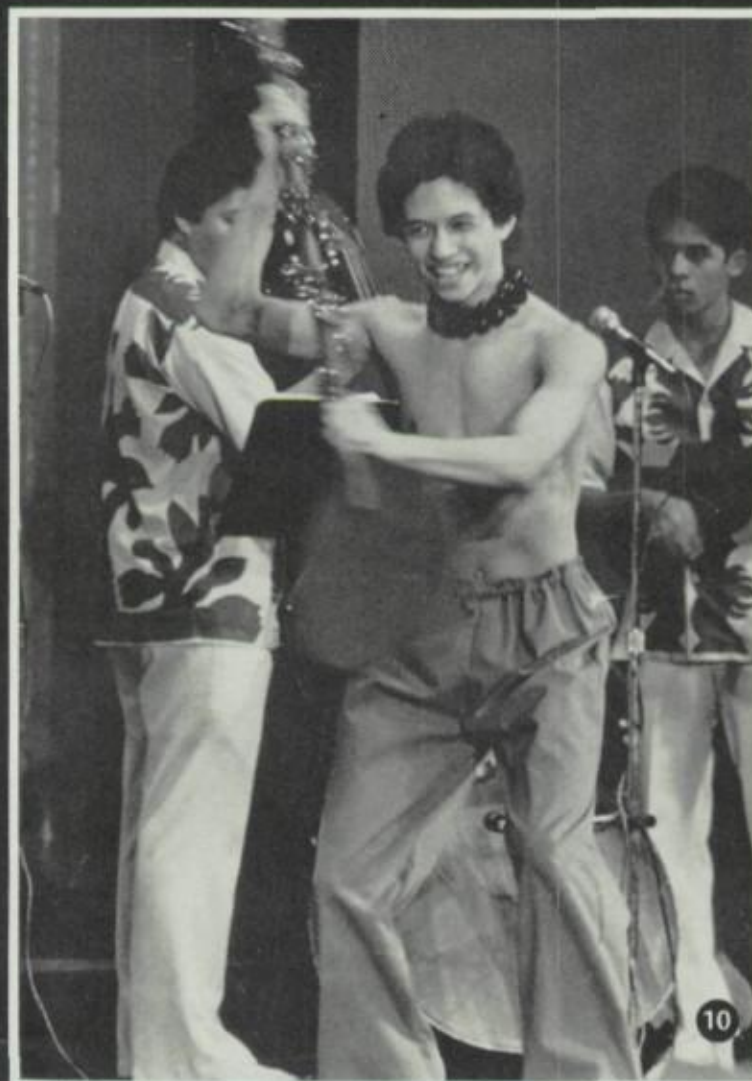

Christmas Concert 1982

the traditional christmas concert filled the hearts of many with the wonderful feeling of christmas as the concert glee, glee classes, symphony band, and orchestra performed at the neil blaisdell center. this special performance, held on the fourth and fifth of december, showed parents, friends, and the public the musical talents of our students. melodies like "sleigh ride" and "merry christmas darling" put smiles on the audience's faces, especially as the hawaiian santa greeted the people with candy. a special performance by patricia anderson murray delighted everyone, young and old. under the direction of robert nelson, dale noble, jayne kreinbihl, john riggle, and holoua stender, the christmas concert was kamehameha's gift of music.

Assemblies

a variety of assemblies brought the school "together as one" in fun, spirit, and energy. the welcome back assembly kicked off the year with the humorous class officers and counselors skits. in other pep assemblies students dressed in their class colors and signs. in october, daily homecoming assemblies included a pie-eating contest, and "fill the square" and "sit on it" games. students were entertained by robert cazimero and his halau and each class performed at the he ho'olaue'a assemblies. following in december was kamehameha's first brown bags to stardom contest. sponsored by a.s.k.s., these events made kamehameha's pride shine and raised high spirits throughout this fantastic year.

At Kekuhaupi'o We Celebrate

after nearly a century, you'd think the ceremony would change or lose some of its meaning. not true. a speech, perhaps, is changed, a dance added, and a pledge modified, but the songs still bring tears and the spirit of thanksgiving, above all, remains intact. at kekuhaupi'o, this and every year, we offer heartfelt aloha.

this page clockwise from right: walter min stands guard at pauahi's portrait. an elementary student can hardly contain his excitement over the mo'olelo. president darvill expresses his approval. "the earth is the lord's and the fullness thereof"—eighth graders recite their pledge. guests from western samoa enjoy a front row vantage point. another student sits quietly during the senior processional. seventh and eighth graders watch intently. Aloha Pauahi, Pauahi Ali'i the torch has been passed to a new generation. the legacy lives on. on this day, december 19, 1982, the kamehameha ohana gather to honor their founder, bernice pauahi paki bishop at manun'ala, the royal mausoleum. 151 years ago, strong winds and stormy weather announced the birth of this ali'i. here, the weather is a replica of the day of her birth. the mana is strong, but for our ali'i nothing less is expected. the princess still reigns in the hearts of her children. and we, the pupils of the kamehameha schools, strive to obtain all that she expects from us.

At Mauna'ala We Meditate

Ka Na'i Aupuni

this years ka na'i aupuni staff put in many dedicated hours producing a terrific annual. under the guidance of new advisor kihei desilva, the staff began their duties early in the summer. members attended photography workshops and an all-day seminar given by josten's american yearbook company. following the theme of "o nā po'okela," the staff was able to add their own individual ideas into making ka na'i aupuni 1983. by doing this, our annual truly represents "the chosen ones."

Concert Glee

concert glee, besides being an important part of the kamehameha schools, is also a very good, hardworking group of individuals. more than any other group, concert glee represents kamehameha to the community, performing concerts and conducting fund raisers throughout the year. one of the most significant of these activities is the christmas tree sale, a traditional fund raising effort put on by all members. this year, dale noble and robert nelson headed the concert glee. the main reason for the group, said one member, was "to entertain others and just have fun!" of course, with such a heavy schedule, there was a constant need for discipline, cooperation, and respect for one another. throughout the year, the group presented four main concerts and a considerable number of mini performances. the traditional christmas concert was held in early december and was broadcast on channel 2 on christmas day! later in january, the kamehameha invitational choral festival was held, followed by a spring concert in may. the concert calendar concluded with a performance at the cambridge diet convention. overall, concert glee had a tremendous year, which is no surprise considering that they have one every year!

clockwise from top left: peter daniels expresses his feelings as kelly kaleikini tells her story before a concert glee performance in midkiff. harrison murray, liesl umiamaka, and nalani jenkins look on as their fellow glee members perform at the mini christmas concert held in midkiff. thelma garso, angela fernandez, and kelly kaleikini share a little bit of music, song, and good cheer at a mini performance held in midkiff. boys concert glee club-1) sean craig, stacy martin, eugene travis, bruce mossman, clinton hook, danny kaohimanu, curran arakaki, peter daniels, jimmy fernandez, robert prestidge. 2) alan hanaike, randy riveira, reggie roberts, daniel nahoopii, richard crabbe, bo mills, wheeler brown, whitney iranon, dennis lee, lindsey lau, wesley tavares. 3) john kong kee, max kalahale, michael spencer, christopher johnson, harrison murray, richard nesmith, sam kelihoomalua, isaiah jeremiah, conrad lum, scott sproat. girls concert glee club-1) manice texiria, nahaku mc fadden, shannon koholokula, amy soares, kelly kaleikini, lehua kalima, thelma garso, kelly lee, wendilee pacheco. 2) leanne char, pauahi baldomero, maggie punahele, kalua leong, angela fernandez, nalani jenkins, donita wong, mapuana hepa, doreen tagudin. 3) mele kahalepuna, rhonda tirrel, renee ramos, noe kaina, ui kahue, liesl umiamaka, joella alagan, valerie hoopai, maiken cope. dale noble, concert glee's headmaster, leads the group in an afternoon rehearsal.

The Kamehameha Warrior

Hi Kim!
-Tus me, Lori!
Hi

the distinguished 190 members of the warrior band and colorguard displayed precision and discipline as they continued to represent kamehameha well in all of their functions throughout the year. under the skillful and highly-qualified direction of john riggle and aristotle santa cruz, the widely-recognized unit achieved their goal of being the only band in the state to make a clean sweep of all the major awards at every contest they were involved in. gustavus supe, in his first year as drum major, and noelani loo, the group's president, led the band through all of their endeavors.

the band's year began way back in august and continued through the first part of june. during the year they participated in the sixth annual kamehameha tournament of bands, the kahuku band tournament, the millilani festival of bands, the meadow gold festival of bands, the pro bowl pre-game and halftime festivities, the world of pageantry hawaii invitational field, concert, and parade competitions, and the kamehameha day parade. it was at these performances that the band established itself as one of "hawaii's best."

this past summer, the band embarked on a three week tour of the continental united states, with stops in portland, new york, washington d.c., los angeles, and san diego. the highlight of the trip was when the band out-performed ten other national bands to capture the portland rose festival field competition grand sweepstakes trophy, as well as the best out-of-state band award at the portland rose festival grand floral parade the following day. because of their achievement, the band was ranked as one of the top ten bands in the nation, and were asked to return to defend their title in the competition this summer. another treat for the band came when williard scott, the n.b.c. weatherman, wore their t-shirt and baseball cap on the taping of the today show.

throughout the years, the band has been an innovator in marching and musical fields. their continued success has carried on during this past year. as the members of the band would say, "band no ka oi, hey, hey!"

Orchestra Tunes Up

working on various musical techniques, the orchestra has developed a fine, harmonious blend of sounds to represent kamehameha. this year, the orchestra held several concerts. they performed in christmas concerts at neal blaisdell center, ala moana shopping center, and the sheraton and hyatt regency hotels in waikiki. this year, the orchestra recieved a sizable amount of calabash money from the annual christmas concert. through their generosity, they contributed that money to the red cross to assist the victims of hurricane iwa.

Song Contest Rehearsals

early in the third quarter, everyone was warned: "this year's songs are all well-arranged; the trophies will go to the hardest working class." thus began nine weeks of rehearsals, of cajoling, paper plane launching, snoozing, and yes, sincere singing. as always, boredom gave way to a sense of purpose. and, as usual, hard work came sooner to some than to others. justice, too, was hard at work this spring—as we practiced, so did we perform.

The Sixty First Annual Song Contest

"nā mele o nā pua a pauahi", or "songs composed by kamehameha graduates" was the theme of the sixty first annual song contest. the audience was mystified with the beauty of each song as the four classes competed for the charles e. king cup (combined competition). the seniors, juniors, and sophomores also competed for the george alanson andrus cup (boys' competition) and the new england mothers' cup (girls' competition). a fourth award, the louise aoe mcgregor award, was presented to the outstanding student director.

Brown Bags To Stardom

"good evening ladies and gentlemen, and welcome to the kamehameha school's first brown bags to stardom competition." these were the words of emcee, shawn 'til dawn sweeney. after weeks of preparations and preliminary competition, six finalists competed at kekuhaupi'o for statewide recognition on december 1, 1982. d.j. shawn sweeney was not only impressed with the high caliber of kamehameha's talent, but he also complemented the student body on its "pride, spirit, and positive energy." a rock band, two hawaiian groups, two hula kahiko entries and a soloist competed before a panel of five judges. the "mighty ones from heaven," a group of seniors consisting of curran arakaki, conrad lum, robert kekaula, and max kalahele harmonized beautifully to a medley of "koke'e" and "railway station," capturing the hearts of audience and judges alike. hula group "na hala o mapuana" gained second place honors, with solo dancer vanessa gascon winning third place. for winning the competition, the "mighty ones from heaven" went on to represent kamehameha at the brown bags to stardom finals, and appeared on KIKI's brown bags to stardom III album.

Hui Lama

developing a natural and cultural awareness of hawaii's environment, and the skills of hiking and camping has been hui lama's main goal throughout this school year. various hikes and campouts, field research at barbers point, and a trip to maui for field study were events that took place during the year. the purpose of hui lama was the mutual enjoyment of group hiking, camping, school and community service projects, and other forms of activities in the perpetuation of environmental awareness.

Nā Wahine Hele Lā O Kaiona

the blue-and-white costumed, feather-adorned dancers of nā wahine hele lā o kaiona have become a familiar and welcome sight at kamehameha special events and at a growing number of hawaiian community functions. mapuana desilva's talented 'ōlapa have captured one first-place, one second-place, and two third-place titles in the annual kualoa high school competitions, and they show much promise in fulfilling their kumu's dream of building at kamehameha a tradition of excellence in hula.

Uluwehi Ka 'Iu O Kaiona

because of an overwhelming number of hula-eager kamehameha students, a second hālau was formed this year. the women of uluwehi ka 'iu o kaiona learned the hela, 'uwehe, kaholo, and 'ami, and gradually advanced to such hula as "kawika" and "hālau hanalei." under mapuana desilva's guidance, and with the help of graduates mele watkins and manu coleman kaiama, the club grew in love and understanding of our native dance.

National Honor Society And Quill And Scroll scholarship, leadership, character, and service both in school and the community are the four criteria which the members of the national honor society are chosen. each year, administrators, counselors, faculty members, and the advisor meet to select club members. one highlight of the club's year is the collection of donations for unicef. "we like to enjoy things outside the academic field as much as others," was the feeling of one member.

journalism. that's the idea in the minds of the members of quill and scroll. these students are chosen according to their outstanding work in journalism, academic standing, and the recommendation of the publication advisors. the students put many hours of dedication into the high school's two publications, ka na'i aupuni and ka mo'i. a new addition to quill and scroll's agenda was the production of a senior supplement. the supplement included events such as the senior prom, senior week, awards assemblies, and commencement.

Math Club

study, study, study!!! that was the feeling of this year's math club, who held a math camp early in september. the purpose of the camp was to give the students a chance to brush up on their math skills. other than the camp, students attended meets, competing with students from various schools. in addition, two banquets were held this year. all in all, the students learned to enjoy the field of mathematics through the knowledge and perfection of their skills.

J.E.T.S. And F.S.A.

although many of us are unaware of the real purpose of j.e.t.s., there are those who are fully involved in the organization, spending their extra time and effort busying themselves with club activities. walter chang, the club's advisor, started off the year in style by attending an engineering fair at the university. there, members were able to see first hand some of hawaii's upcoming geniuses in the engineering field. later, a project was held for the best bridge made out of toothpicks. this event was fun as well as challenging. the group also got a chance to attend the state science and industrial arts fair, which was quite an exciting event for the members. the year concluded with a farewell party funded by money raised earlier in '83.

some people want to be lawyers, others, executives, doctors and writers, but all of these people need help. so who do they go to? if you answered f.s.a. (future secretaries of america), then you're right! with more and more jobs opening up for secretaries, an increasing number of young women are becoming interested in the field. this year, arlis legler introduced her club members to the world of business. members were initiated on october 5, and from then on, it was "business" all the way. they attended cannon's business college later in the year, and celebrated secretaries week in april.

Kamehameha Student Credit Union Legislative Apprenticeship Program

providing banking services for the students of the kamehameha schools was the main interest of this year's student credit union. it was staffed by a group of student members who gave their extra time and effort to servicing the monetary needs of students in grades seven through twelve.

many of us have wondered what the people in that big grey building they call the state capitol really do, but most of us have simply been content to wonder. this year, however, a few individuals have done more than wonder. these four — joan pokipala, veronica garcia, cheryl yin, and denise kaaa — were selected as kamehameha's legislative apprentices. their job was to assist a state senator or representative throughout the sixty day legislative session, by performing general office work, and attending important hearings. in their free time, they researched the legislative system, developed next years apprenticeship program, and involved themselves with other special projects. their work was very challenging, and each apprentice found reward in her increased knowledge of state affairs, in her new-found maturity, and in her growing sense of responsibility to the real world.

Variety Of Activities

Hey Kim!

How was your freshman year? Mine was okay I guess until the end. You know what happened then. It's been so nice knowing you & having you as a friend in and out of the dorm! Hope to see you around this summer. I wish there was at least one more week of school. You know why. Hope you get it on with one massive dude this next year or better yet this summer. If you look really hard you might be able to find one in Hilo (besides Mitch K.). Good luck everybody needs it! I hope that you meet up with _____ in the near future (and this time Kim-go for it!). Can you believe it next year we're going to _____ be sophomores I hope Koko gets _____ to go to the Junior Prom. Don't worry Kim. It's not the end of the year. You'll go to the Senior Prom yet! Boy, this is going to be one long writing. I'm going to have to switch pages now. →

Well, anyway Kim see you around next year. I hope you do good in the near future. Just take care then and stay cool. Keep up your swimming and (uh hum) other unmentionable things (Kathy) just kidding. Can't you take a joke (I don't talk!). GOD bless! Thanks for every-

Ups And Downs Of High School

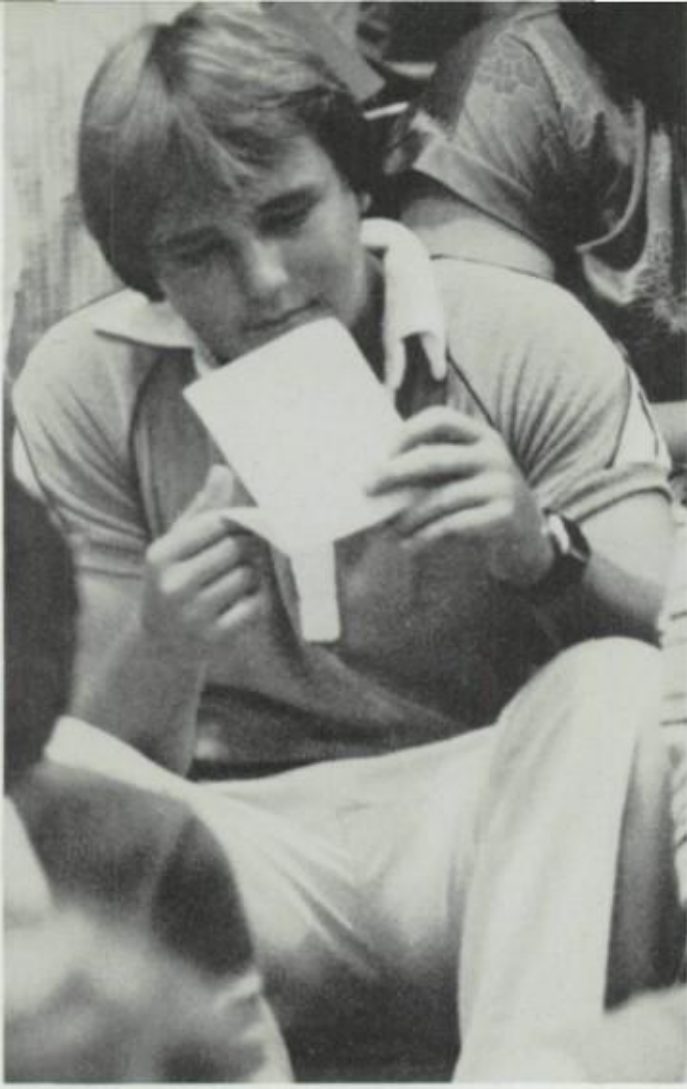

Fresh Start For Class Of 1986

the opening of the ever-energetic freshmen class began with their first ice cream social held in october. under the steady hand of advisor charles berry, the class was able to plan many other fun-filled activities, including the ever popular freshman dinner dance. despite the campus changes this year, the younger members of the family were able to come through strong!

Sophomore Spirit Of 1985

#1

in september, the tenth graders found themselves in a position unique to any of kamehameha's previous sophomore classes. with the exception of lunch periods at akahi, the sophs were on their own and had the "run" of middle campus. the class council struggled with such problems as spirit competition apathy, the misuse of paki lounge, and the difficulty of providing positive examples of behavior to the incoming freshmen. class members responded to these challenges with increasingly successful socials, with their first off-campus banquet, and with a growing sense of maturity and responsibility. by year's end, the sophomores proved to be a proud and worthy class.

Jammin' Juniors Of 1984

the jamming class of nineteen eighty four has made it through their third year of high school. to help relieve some of the pressure from homework, the class, under the guidance of advisor sandy behenna put together many class activities, these activities included class socials, a movie night, and the junior prom which was held at the princess ka'iulani hotel. they also recieved their class rings. always ready for new challenges, the class looks forward to the years ahead, but shall always remember and cherish their junior year in high school.

Hi Rimo

It has been totally trippy.
fun, great knowing you this year.
I think we created some really great memories (NYAH, NYAH, NYAH)
Well we survived another school year!!
Thank you for helping me out with a few sticky problems. I am very glad one of your many wishes came true. May many more wishes come true for you during the summer. Keep in touch while in Hilo. Well, see you next year!!

The Kamehameha Track Teams

kamehameha has not been a track "powerhouse" for many years. we do, however, take pride in the accomplishments of a handful of truly talented runners and field men, and in the dedication of a great many good athletes whose effort and spirit make winning — winning of a different and more important kind — a tradition as old as the antiquated oval on which generations of kamehameha spikers have persistently pounded their feet.

Step Up On The Road To Success

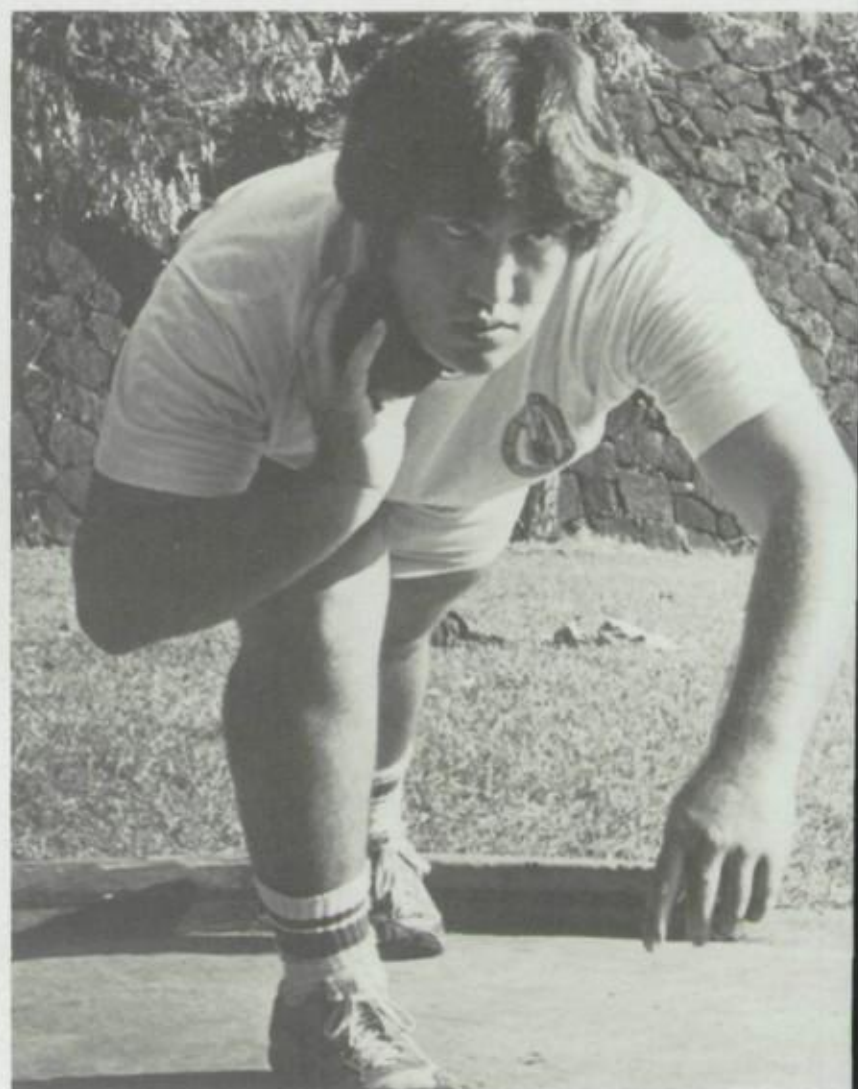

"no pain, no gain" was one four-year veteran's version of the law which seems to govern all serious athletic endeavor. few of this year's female track contingent were strangers to pain — second year coach laurie murakami saw to that — and few came away from the season without the feeling of personal satisfaction that comes with improvement and with the surpassing of one's own previous best effort.

Warriors Swings Through A Successful Season

the bulk of the varsity baseball team was made up of eleven returning lettermen from a team that fell one game short of going to the state baseball tournament last year. the team was supplemented by players from last year's j.v. i.l.h. championship team. joe tom jr. and kimo perkins assisted head coach, ed allen, who lives in california and traveled to hawaii once a week to coach the team. coach allen stressed defensive fundamentals which helped carry the team through a successful season. the year was highlighted by the team's participation in a tournament on kaula'i in february.

Intermediate Baseball

"this year's intermediate team promises to be a successful one; we have good newcomers and great returnees," said coach santiago. he had lots of faith in the team, and the team lived up to his expectations. "we have a history of excellent play, and we are the foundation and 'feeder' of the j.v. and varsity squads."

Kila Canoe Crews

why would anyone willingly give up his leisure time for the "privilege" of being yelled at, punished, teased, and goaded? the canoe men made this sacrifice. they practiced at ala moana beach until their muscles ached, their ears rang, and their bodies glistened with sweat. and because of their intense dedication to their sport, they developed into the most talented and respected varsity and jv crews of the season.

Girls I.L.H. Canoe Teams...Paddling

"we click together. we're a family, and when one person has a problem it affects the entire crew. we take care of each other," those were the words of one member of this years' girls i.l.h. canoe team. months and months of painstaking practices paid off. in the first race of the season, held on february 1, the j.v. crew captured the first place title, and the varsity crew took second. they worked for perfection and that's exactly what they got!

Wrestlers Slam

this year, the varsity wrestling team performed extremely well. they had a lot of potential wrestlers that did well in the i.l.h. tournament and state championships. the whole team put in all their strength and effort for a super season. the junior varsity grapplers tied for first with iolani and had many wrestlers placing first in the i.l.h. tournament. practices consisted of stretching, drills, then breaking up into groups and wrestling with each other. they continuously wrestled and ended with conditioning, which was sprinting, sit-ups, and push-ups. all three teams, with the help of key players edwin lindsey, jimmy fernandez, mike cadang, mike kuenzli, le-roy lareau, and ted mauliola, represented kamehameha successfully.

Girls' Basketball...

the kamehameha girls' varsity basketball team having the shortest players in the league were the fastest around. with the experience of 8 returnees, the girls did very well in their pre-season tournament held in maui and also throughout their regular season. under the leadership of first year varsity coach, shelley kahuanui, the team succeeded in achieving their high-set goals of a victorious season.

... Shoots For The Top

the girls' intermediate basketball team started off the season with their best foot forward, showing great potential along with coach don lum, these athletes learned what it took to make it big.

hours of practice and determination proved rewarding for the j.v. girls' basketball team, coached by bob benham. the team did exceptionally well considering that it was almost entirely made up of new members. their successful season provided us with great hope for the future.

Varsity Golf

FORE!

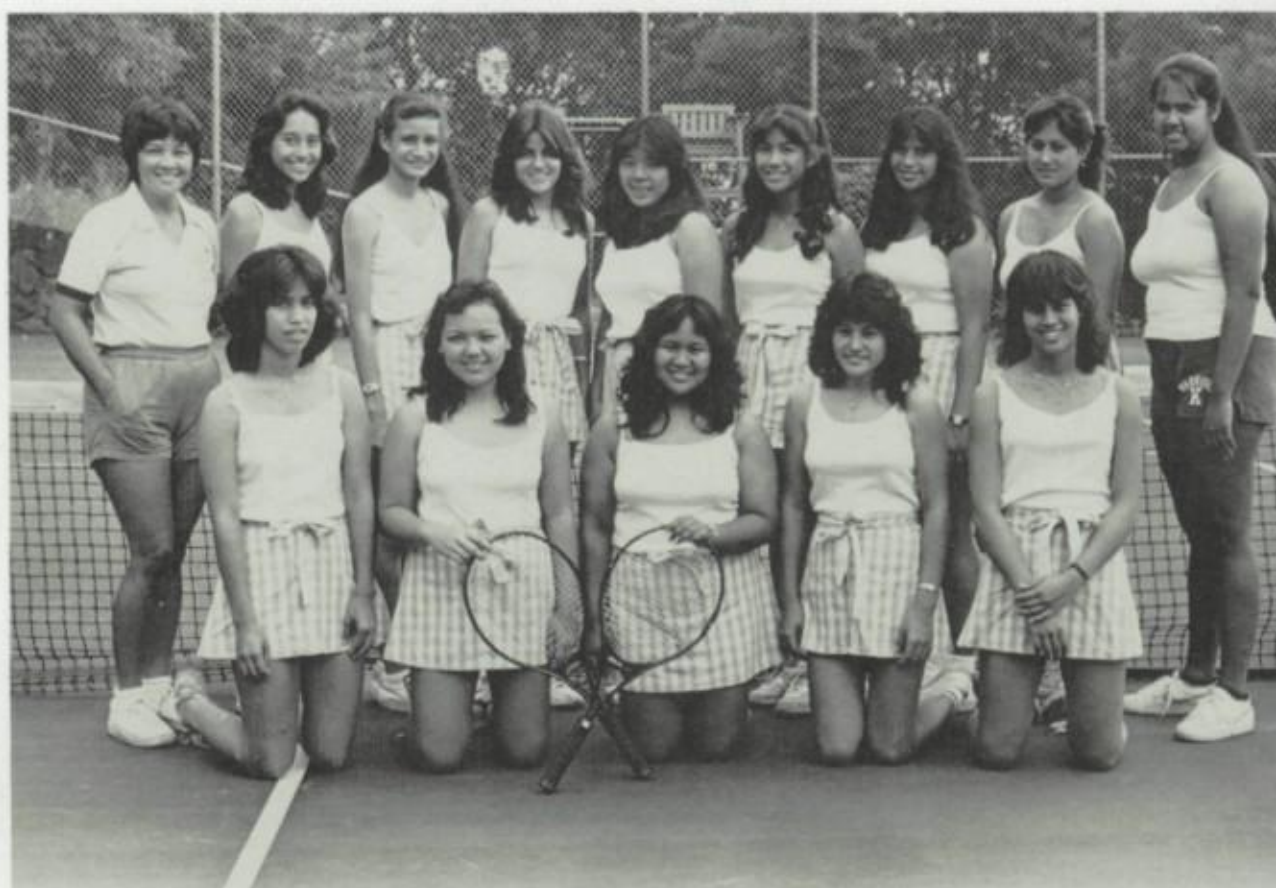

the varsity golf team was unusual in the sense that it was one of the few teams that practiced off campus. coach clement enoka spent long hours tutoring his golfers at the pali and ala wai golf courses. the players all agreed that their ultimate goal was to travel to kaua'i to participate in the state tournament in april.

Varsity Tennis . . .

this year's varsity tennis teams showed that they had the determination, attitude, and skill needed to have an outstanding season. the boy's team, coached by les young, practiced everyday after school and on weekends to perfect their skills. throughout the season the boy's varsity team went on striving to do their best. coached by terry thomas, the girl's varsity tennis team did their very best in all that they accomplished. although the 11 member team felt that the practices were strenuous, the team found it very rewarding and did well in the i.l.h. league.

J.V.'s Ace Their Way To The Top.

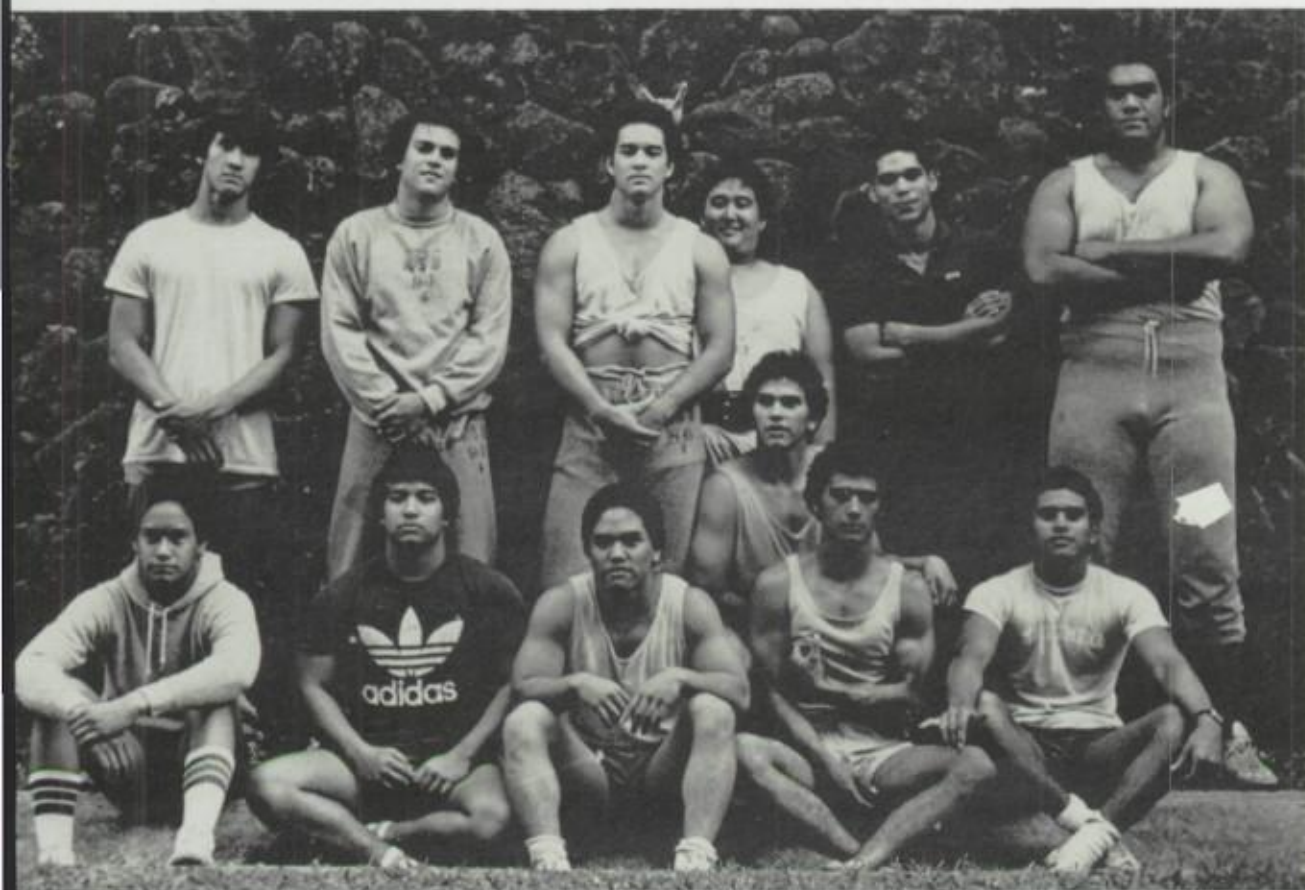

learning advanced tennis skills and developing team spirit was the goal of this year's j.v. tennis team. in preparation for the post season tournament, practices were held every-day after school. in addition, matches were played twice a week. the dedication of time and knowledge by coaches sam lake and les young, as well as the players, resulted in a very triumphant season for the team.

They've Got Muscles . . .

"muscles" was one thing the powerlifting team definitely had. although the team was not large in number, weekly practices and intense workouts were two reasons why the team was so successful. coach kaipo wells used his keen experience and knowledge to help make his team one of the best kamehameha has ever produced.

Girls J.V. And Intermediate Softball

under the superb coaching of don santiago and gerald kahue, this years j.v. softball team managed, once again, to retain the i.l.h. championship. striving to promote team fellowship, captains charlene kauhane and verna adversalo led their team not only to the championship, but to the personal knowledge that winning isn't everything, but it sure feels good.

Warriors Take It To The Hoop

the boys varsity "aa" basketball team had a tough season this year in competing against other determined teams. with the talents of team captains, rick saunders and russell kaniho, the team stepped onto the court ready to take on the upcoming challenge of their games. representing kamehameha in the division two league was the varsity "a" team. they began with a preseason tournament on moloka'i, in which they combined their skills to produce a dynamite team. leading the team were captains darrell bactad, sy shim, and chris akeo. both teams ended their seasons with a satisfying record.

Boys' Junior Varsity Basketball

after getting over the shock of last year (their first year) the j.v. team settled down to a comfortable pace, ranking high in their division. with two veteran coaches, bob benham and dayle turner leading the pack, the team charged boldly through this year's basketball season, proving they've got what it takes to make it. so if that is true, if they really do have what it takes, we can look forward to two highpowered varsity teams next year, and winning ones at that!

Intermediate "AA" And "A" Basketball

although the two teams were relatively new to ilh basketball, the intermediate "a", and "aa" teams, under the guidance of al apo, daniel lum, and roy nakashima, managed to withstand the season, coming up barely scratched. their daily practices held at the keoua courts helped them to improve their skills as well as their game. as one of their coaches, daniel lum remarked, "we may not have the biggest or the best, but we've got heart and that's all that counts in the end."

Boys Bowling Strikes Again.

this year, the boys varsity bowling team had a rolling start. avoiding the gutter, they pinned their opponents and struck them down. games were held on tuesdays and thursdays every week at kalihi bowl beginning at 3:30 p.m. with mickie ceberano as coach, and glenn gomes as captain of the team, the squad fell just short of capturing the league title. they finished a close second to maryknoll.

Really Strike 'Em Dead!

winning their way to another successful season, this year's girls varsity and junior varsity bowling teams really struck 'em dead! with coach miki ceberano leading the way, their natural skill, drive and determination really paid off. they spent their season practicing hard and showed off their talant in the weekly matches held at kalihi bowl highlighting this eventful season, the varsity and junior varsity girls captured first place and continued their tradition of excellence.

Varsity Volleyball Stretches For The Top

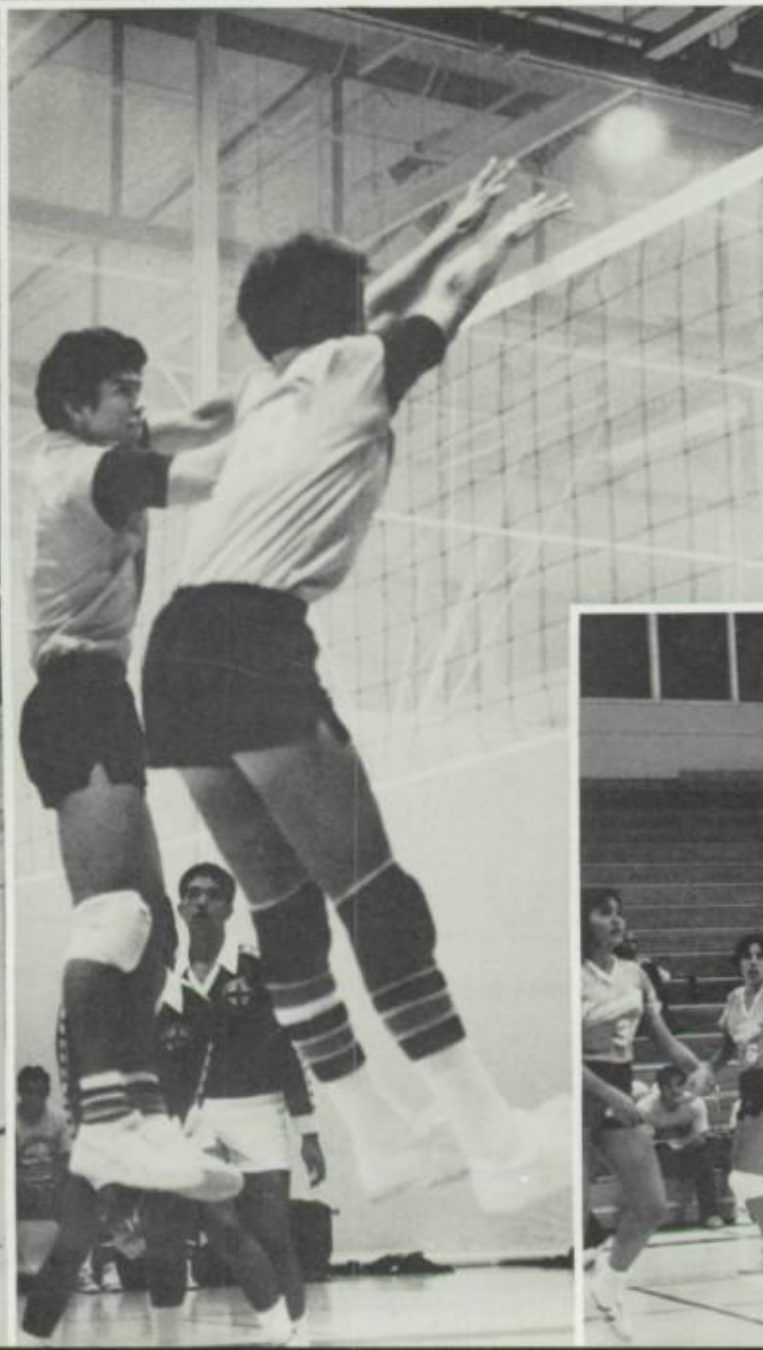

despite an unimpressive win-loss record, this year's boys varsity volleyball team displayed the effort and spirit of genuine winners. coaches hansen nu'uhiwa and bobby yomes were proud of their team's character, and they were pleased, as well, with the skillful play of russell kaniho, charlie lovell, kawika morgan, and james todd.

the varsity volleyball women smashed their way to an undefeated ILH season and headed to the state championships as hawaii's top-rated team. captains lisa pestrello and reydan ahuna — recognized by the press as the best female athlete ever to come out of kamehameha — led their sister athletes through three months of unparalleled success. coaches ku'uipo and winston lum stressed team harmony and relentless, one-game-at-a-time concentration; these goals were met and exceeded by this year's talented squad.

this year the coaches of the boys volleyball teams worked together as one. the teams participated in mass practices where both the junior varsity and intermediate teams practiced along with the varsity team. the aim of these mass practices were to help provide the younger players with more experience of "really" playing volleyball. this showed to be a very effective method of practicing.

Girls Volleyball

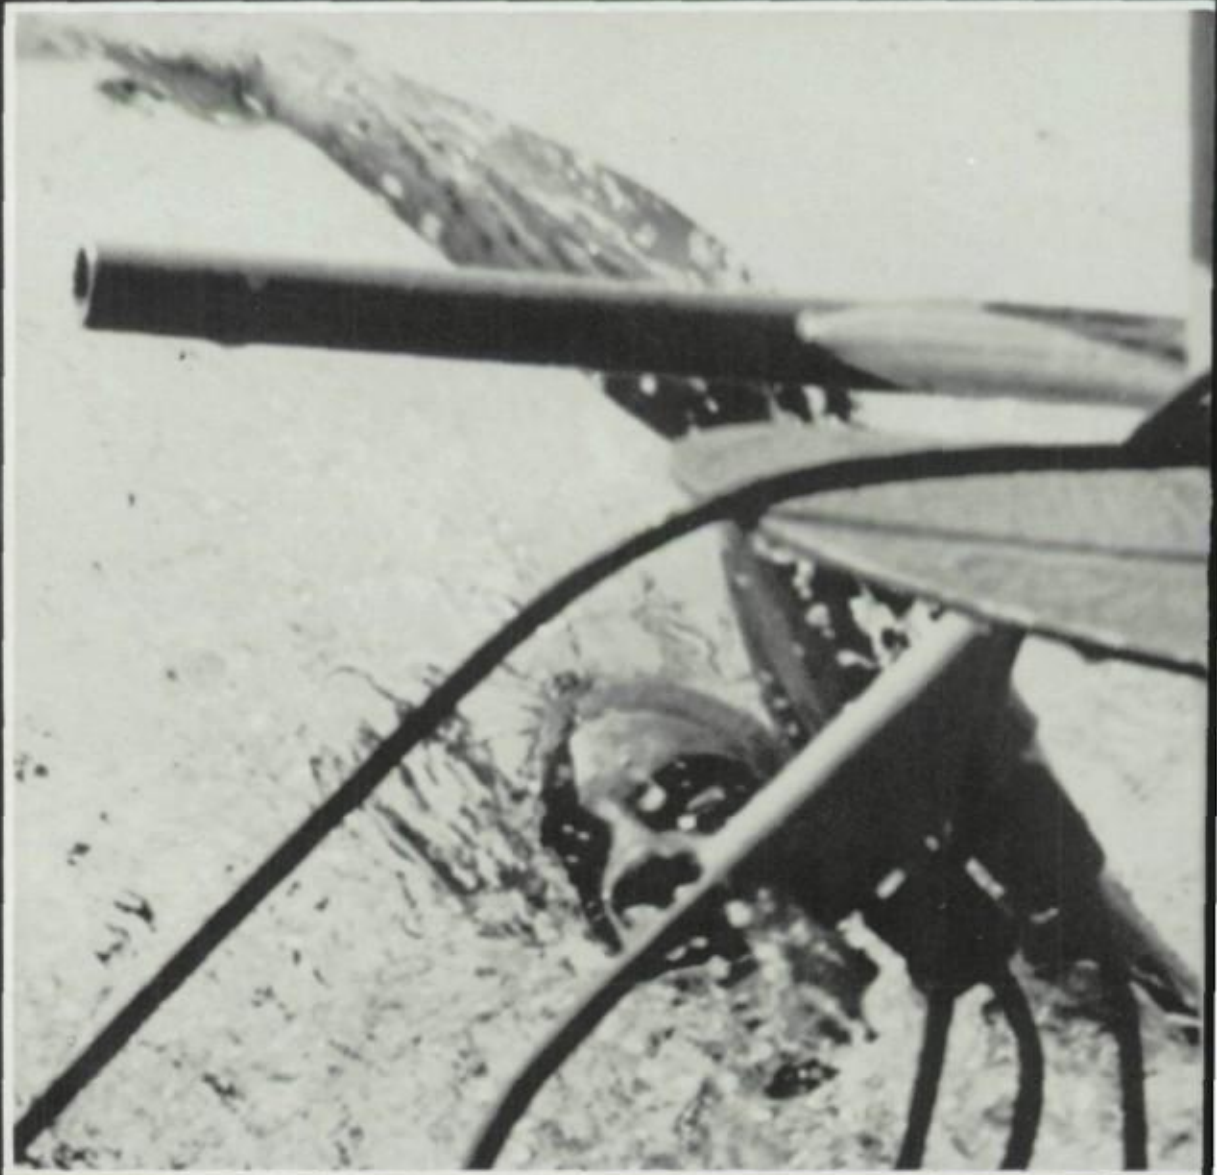

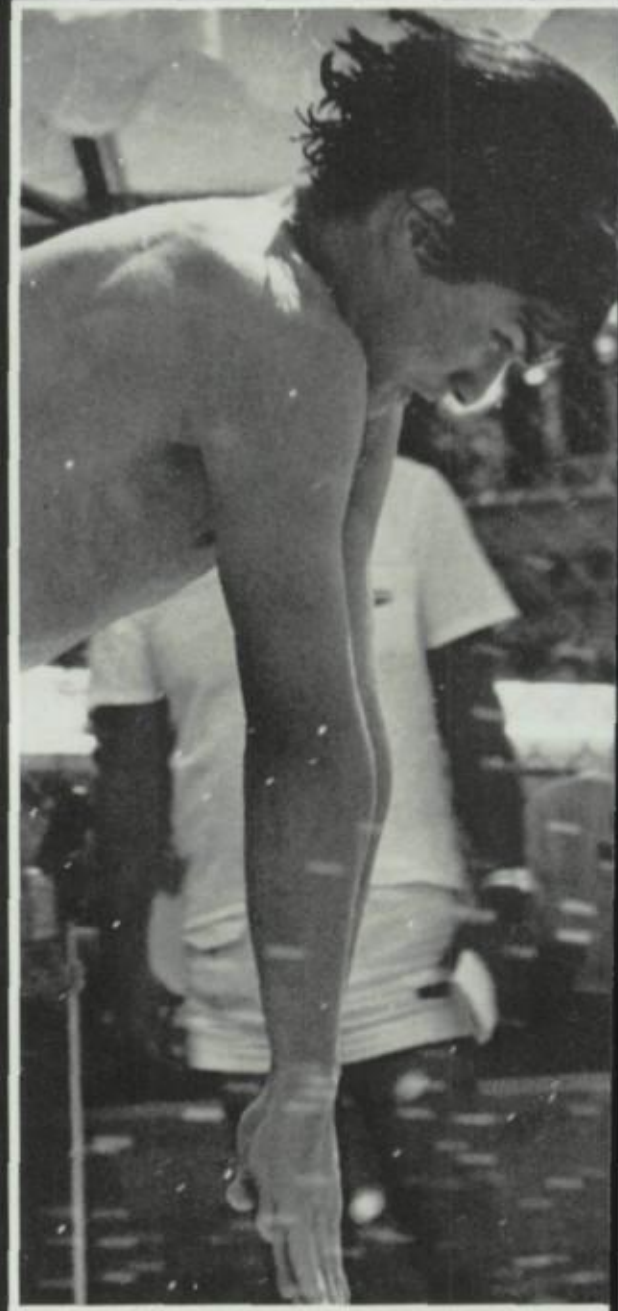

this year's j.v. and intermediate girls volleyball teams enjoyed successful seasons. the j.v. girls, coached by terri spencer, followed in the footsteps of their big-sisters by winning the ilh title with an unblemished string of victories. the intermediate squad, though less overpowering, proved to be willing and resilient competitors.

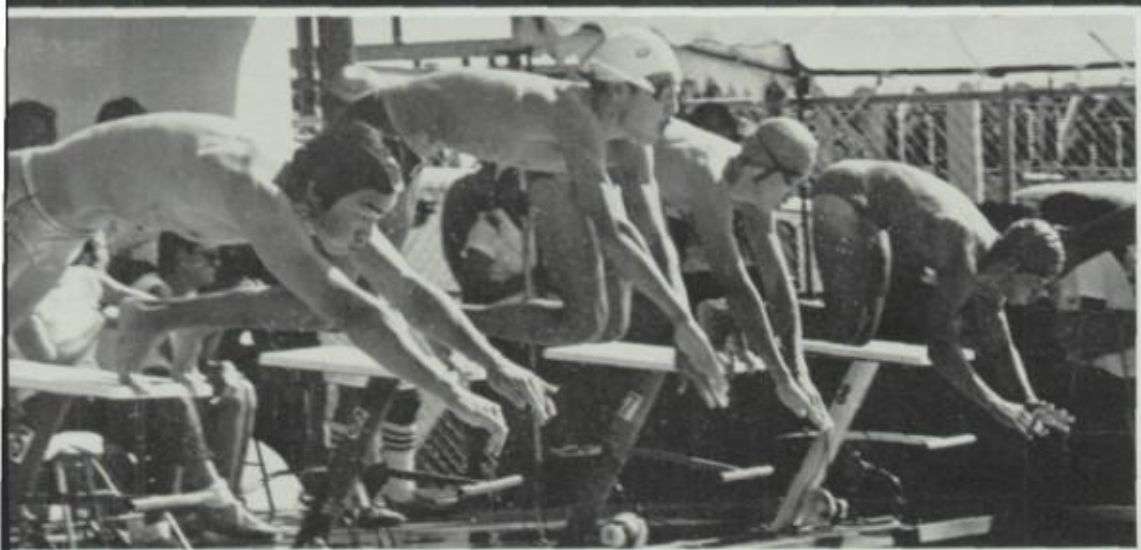

Swimmers . . .

#1 da best

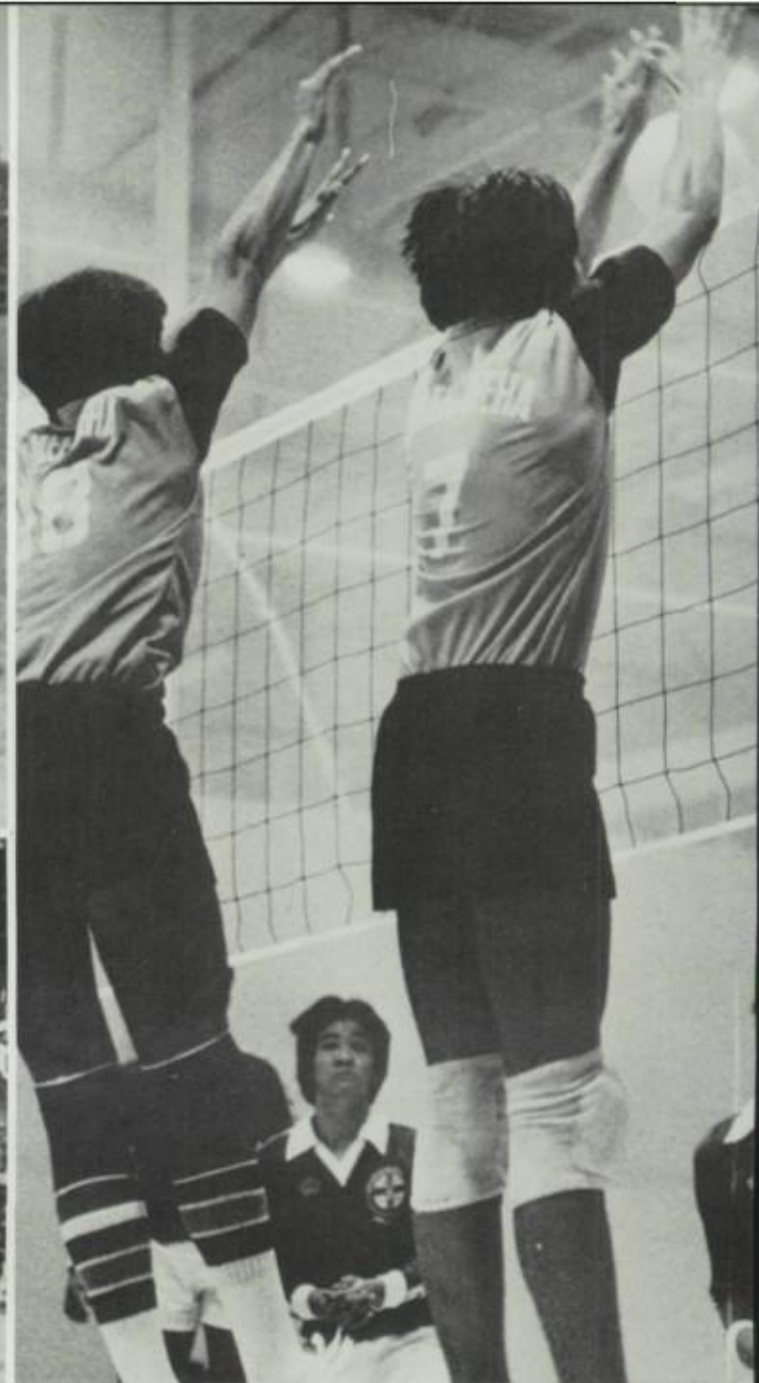

in an effort to prevent boredom and freezing, coach kerry kamisato thought up a variety of conditioning methods for the swim team. the members underwent "dry-land" practices as well as swimming drills. the team also participated in aerobic, weight lifting, and swimming exercises at the beginning of the season. on the island of maui the team enjoyed a relaxing weekend. while there, they entered in a swim meet which was open to various teams throughout the state. although the team was a small one, they did not lack in experience.

Cross Country Crosses Victory Road

with the help of coaches puamana seymour and marshall marumoto, the boys and girls cross-country team had a fantastic season!

they ran an average of about five miles a day and occasionally went to kapiolani park for a change in scenery. both teams competed in the hawaii prep academy cross-country invitationals and came in sixth in each of their divisions. they also competed in the hhsaa cross-country championships, which were held on the big island, and did an exceptional job, considering the roughness of the course. says one team member, "it was a tough season, but the team worked together and did very well. like they say; no pain, no gain."

Varsity Football: The Sleeping Giant

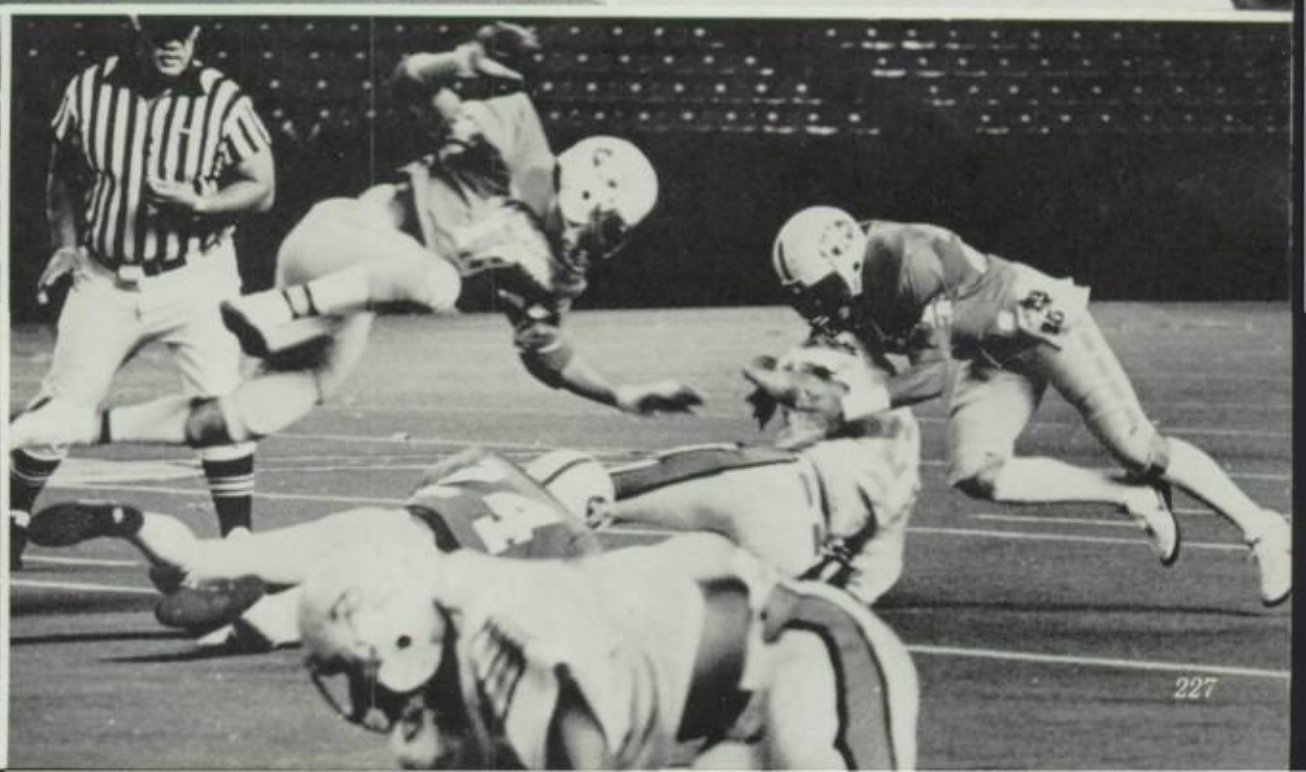

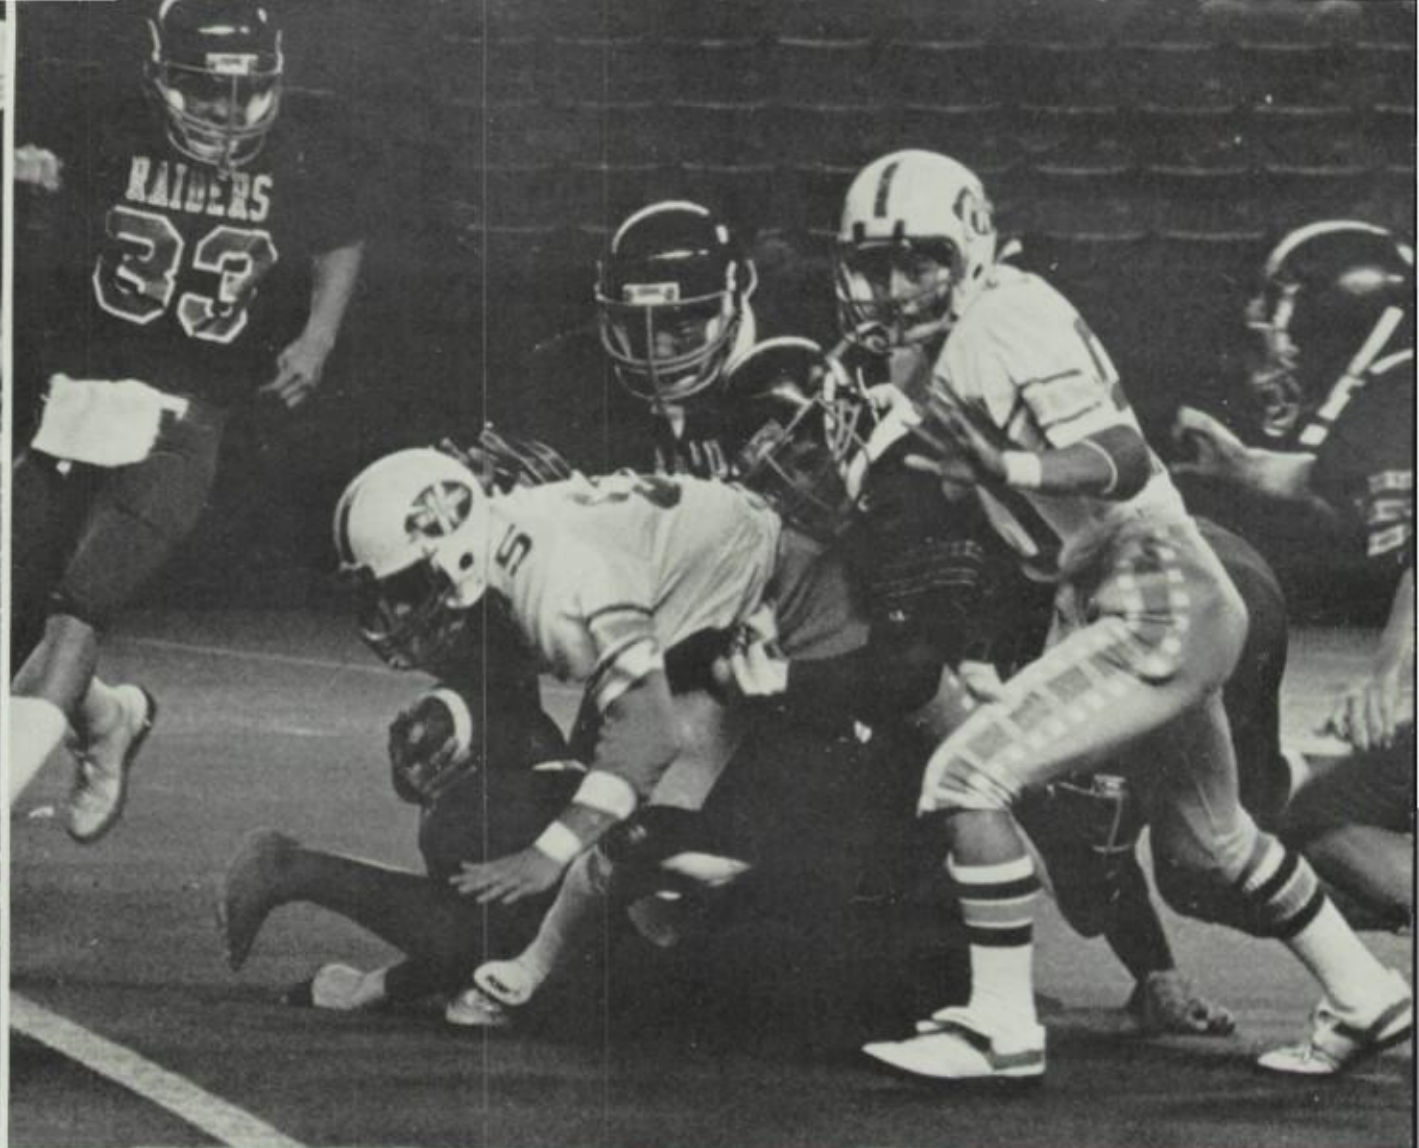

often referred to by the media as the "sleeping giant" of kapālama heights, this year's kamehameha varsity football team had the potential to succeed. though they lacked the physical size and individual talent that kamehameha teams are known for, as a unit the team was a legitimate contender for the i.l.h. title. because of injuries to key players and the team's inability to "put it all together," the team lost their first three games by a total of seven points and finished the first round without a victory. however, the "giant" rose from its slumber to tie league leader, pac-5, in the first game of the second round and soon established a 1-1-1 record, putting the second round championship and a crack at the playoffs within their reach. each member of the team worked hard throughout the season hoping that his efforts would create an opportunity for him to play.

J.V. Warriors Tackle The Job

this year's junior varsity football team had a season full of victory. from the very beginning, the team knew they could return the j.v. championship to kamehameha, and that they did. under the iron reins of head coach bruce wong and staff, the j.v. team had a terrific season.

Freshmen Football—Imua A Lanakila

taking the i.l.h. championship, this year's freshmen football team had a unique combination of team unity, pride, and a drive for success. under the unbeatable guidance of head coach mike joy and staff, the freshmen warriors had an aggressive and victorious season.

Pep Squads Give It Their All

this year's varsity pep squad gave it their all to promote school spirit. consisting of eleven "fired-up" girls and four strong and youthful boys, they practiced three times a week after school to keep their "spirit goin' strong" at all the games and assemblies. with the help of advisor andrea cyriacks, the squad captivated the school.

trying to keep track of three hundred students and their records was not an easy task but our counselor, vicki lar rieu, did an infallible job. she assisted with our schedules throughout our high school years and prepared seniors for college entrance and career choices. anyone that had a problem was welcome to discuss it with our proficient counselor. mrs. lar rieu was a paramount supporter of the seniors and gave her all at every class and school activity.

mr. edward tiffany, known to everyone as "tiff", helped strengthen the unity of the senior class. always keeping our best interests in mind, he helped plan the best year ever. at times he may have wanted to throw in the towel, but he always hung in there, seeing within us the potential to become the best.

probably one of the most memorable details of this school year was the segregated campuses. after spending three years with grades nine through twelve mixed together, it was a significant change for the seniors. we didn't have the opportunity to see the underclassmen as often and there was hardly any time between classes to recover from the previous period. there was frequent complaining about the short distances between rooms and the five minute passing-time. remember when we would grumble about walking down waonahele every other period? well, the situation wasn't too difficult to become familiar with but for better or for worse we endured all the changes.

on may twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and eighty-three, a hush falls over o'ahu; there is a slight tingle in the air. somewhere in the city over three hundred young adults are gathered together as a class for the last time. we will sing songs to honor the founder of our school and all those who have helped us through the years: the teachers, staff and our loved ones. although we, the senior men and women of kamehameha, go our separate ways and embark on new adventures, there will always be a special bond between each and every one of us; a tie that only brothers and sisters could know. during our high school years at kamehameha, we have grown up and become educated together. we have been nurtured to face the exciting challenges that life holds for us all. by our endeavors, by our achievements, by our conquests, the world will know that we are truly na po'okela.

WELCOME
SENIORS to 83

13-Year Seniors

thirteen years ago, fifty privileged youngsters became the very first members of kamehameha's class of nineteen eighty three. at that time, the vietnam war was still in progress, rock 'n' roll was at its peak, and demonstrations were still common occurrences on college campuses. but for many of us, none of those were important. what was foremost on our minds was being left alone in kindergarden by our parents. now that was traumatic and most significant to us. as the thirty-seven of us who yet remain at kamehameha assembled for this last picture, we couldn't help but reminisce about the days we spent together in elementary. there were those restless nap times which we couldn't wait to leave behind but wish we had in high school. we learned the "family style" of eating which included a waiter and host for each table. makahiki was thrilling when we finally got to participate and demonstrate some of the traditions of old hawaii. chapel was an earlier version of ekalasia except with a choir and candle lighters. founder's day was different too. as fifth graders, we performed for the kindergarden through sixth grades and honored our founder at the same time. the most memorable event was staying at camp makapala in sixth grade. each night one group of students entertained the rest of us with songs or skits. those were the good old days which we will always hold dear in our hearts along with the joy, sadness, and frustrations of growing up. we will forever appreciate each other because of the memories we share and we thank kamehameha for giving us each other and allowing us to grow, learn and remember together.

Senior Officers And Advisors

senior officers were faced with the challenge of planning new activities to fill the void left by the cancellation of the traditional luau. thanks to the irrepressible good nature of the entire class, and to the dedication of its leaders, the year will be remembered for its innovation and special sense of unity.

top left: peter donnelly and christine schmidt work on a project at the student production center. top right: tina grube concentrates at a meeting. above left: 1) peter donnelly (president), ming tim sing (vice president), christine schmidt, maile u'u (representatives at large), tina grube (secretary). above: christine schmidt gives peter donnelly a reply at s.p.c. left: cindy sylva and maile u'u listen to the class president during a leadership class.

we now move beyond the life we have experienced together at kamehameha to a broader world of people and activities. the knowledge we have gained and the special feeling of oneness we have acquired will be with us throughout our lives. as the chosen ones, we treasure these gifts of kamehameha.

Kaulana Nā 'Ōpio, Ka Pua O Hawai'i

Dearest Kim,
 Hello! Well I've enjoyed meeting you and becoming your friend. I had fun the time you came Maui. Keep up the good swimming and have a wonderful summer. Take care and keep taking. Love + Aloha!

Kim,
 Even though we didn't get as close as I would have liked to. There are three more years to go closer and I hope we can take care over the summer and I'll miss you. Keep in touch.
 Love,
 Alana Kehaulani

Kim,
 Sorry I never sign your annual. Hope you enjoyed your freshmen year. Take Care and have a nice summer.
 Love
 Deb.

Ehi! Kim,
 Hope you enjoyed your first year in High School. Hope to see ya next year. Take care.

Kim,
 I am happy I got to know a crazy like you. Keep up that crazy personality of yours. Take care & yourself. I'll come & visit you & the others next year. We can go party. Sail on to your Sophomore year. Good Luck at Song Contest.

P.S. Unite

Kim -
It was really enjoyable having you as one of my 4th period Algebra students.
We worked hard but had a lot of fun too. Best wishes to a sweet girl and a friend.
Mrs. Scofield ☺

Kim -
It was nice having you in my speech class and my Honors English class. Take care during the summer and keep up the studying, so that you'll be ready next year when we come back. Take care!
Love and Aloha,

Kim,
Kim, Kim Kim... How the (whatever you like put) are you?
Now that we don't talk as much as we used to, you came to tell me all the "hops" at the lunch table.
It was fun while it lasted for me. Thanks for being a friend. Even those times when I wasn't much of a friend & hope you get who you want, cuz you're going to be a sophomore soon. You don't match as a freshman, your too normal! Hope you have a safe & serfin' summer. And well, the bell just rang & I think I gotta go, Sr!
Have a good one! Take care & God Bless!

Kim,
 so, what's up,
 stoney? Nah, you ^{whoops} ~~know~~ do ~~what's~~ wrong here, I cannot spell right. Too much school. I guess. Hope you enjoyed your first year at Kam, & all the rest, how ever long it takes you to get through. Nah. Have fun, & take care of going yourself this summer. See ya next year (I going visit)

KIM,

WELL I GUESS YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO REMEMBER YOUR LAST WEEKEND OF YOUR FRESH-MAN YEAR. I'll take
 YOU BACK TO SEE "SONG REMAINS THE SAME." WHEN IT COMES BACK, SO YOU CAN SEE IT. AND REMEMBER IT.
 SO WRITE ME OR CALL
 ME WHEN YOU GET BACK

Hey Kim, (#3)

So how was your freshman year? I hope it was as memorable as my junior year. I was glad to be able to have you in my dorm. You're real quiet and sweet. You never made or got in trouble. I hope to see you next year as a sophomore. Just think, next year I'll be a SENIOR! I'm so scared. I feel like and ol' fut. I'll take care of yourself over the summer and I'll see you next year. May God bless ya. BE GOOD and stay out of trouble. Most of all Have fun. Much love and Aloha,

Kim,

Hello. Remember me, I'm the guy who always asked you to throw away my rubbish in math class.
Thank you!

Have a very nice summer, hopefully next year I'll get to know you better.
See you around and take care of yourself

Kim,

Hope you enjoyed our school and hope you're willing to return. It was a fun year, but it went by too fast. Next year will be a better year. Keep on smiling and keep cool. Take it easy over the summer, no party too much,
and no over work yourself. Take care and I'll see you around. Bye.
